We want to help our kids learn, but it can be hard to know how to help our children thrive in school when we are juggling the many demands of work and parenting. In this workshop, Dr. Megan Webster (a parent, teacher, and teacher trainer) will share practical research and tips about how to support our children to thrive as learners in school and in the world.

You will leave this workshop with:

- Suggestions for how to help your children get the most out of school
- Research-based information about how to help your kids develop their skills as readers, at any age
- Ideas on how to help kids with homework
- Tips for how to work with teachers when your children have needs you feel are not being met

In this hands-on, collaborative workshop, you will get to know fellow parents, connect with teachers and experts, ask questions, get feedback, and explore new approaches to parenting. Join us! All are welcome.
